CITY SCHOOLS OPEN FOR THE FALL TERM MONDAY

Everything Being Gotten In Readiness For Auspicious Oc- casion.

The different schools of the city will open Monday for the fall term and about eight and early there will be between 1,500 and 2,000 children tottering, walking and skipping the distance between their homes and school. To some the sound of the school-bell will be a sorrowful one, but it can truly be said that these are in the minority in Greensboro for the children here love to attend school, knowing that they should be thankful for the opportunity offered them.

Especially are those who will be quartered in the new High School building anxious for the opening day. Heretofore the graduates have been instructed in a remodeled church poorly lighted and more poorly ventilated. So it is natural that the students should be looking forward in joyful anticipation to the delights and comforts of a well-equipped school room.

For some days Superintendent Mann and Principal King have been busy arranging for the opening day. Mr. King's office has been moved to the new building and everything here is being put in readiness for the opening.

The Asheboro Street School has been reserved during the summer and an addition is to be made to the Lindsay Street School. This, however, will not be finished before the spring term, if then. It is possible that the Davis Street building will have to be used again, but every effort will be made to avoid this. The attendance last year was around 1,700 and it is possible that this year it will be still more.

The following is a list of the teachers in the different schools:

High School—A. H. King, Principal; Misses Bessie Howard, Frances Womble, Mary Jones, Bessie Caudle, Eleanor Elliott, Jane Summerville, Frances Sutton, Annie Waldrop, Pauline Schofield.

West Lee School—Miss Daisy Foster, Principal; Misses Louise Wood and Helen Hadley.

Asheboro Street School—Lee T. Blair, Principal; Misses Florence Pannell, Bettie Land, Annie Pryor, Annie M. Garrett, Vera Wharton, Lillian Barnes, Jessie Wicker, Theresa Cook, Bessie Pulliam.

Lindsay Street School—Miss Hunter Irvin, Principal; Misses Rosalia Abbott, Florence Gray, Okla Does, Bessie Anderson, Mattie Williams, Ethel Chowning, Nell Clark, Lillie Whitaker, Gertrude Frazier, Lila Duval, Martha Petty, Mary Yates, Mary Boyles, Mayfield Richmond, Emma Renn, H. Anna Williams.

Colored Schools.

Perry Street School, H. H. Faulkner, Principal. Warnersville school, W. B. Windsor, Principal. Assistants in both colored schools, Sarah McKenzie, Lena Morrow, Bessie Foushee, Hattie Jones, Myrtle Dick, Maria Williams, Grace Nelson, Edna Mitchell. Janet McKenzie will be supervisor of the primary and grammar grades, having charge of the work as far as the fourth grade.

Think Rule Drastic.

Greenville, S. C., Sept. 5.—After an exchange of letters and telegrams in reference to the orders issued by the State entomologist, forbidding the importation after September 10 of cotton into this State from Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Mississippi and Louisiana, Capt. E. A. Smyth, president of the Cotton Manufacturers' Association of South Carolina, received yesterday a telegram from Mr. W. D. Evans, of Cheraw, chairman of the entomological committee of the board of trustees of Clemson College, stating that a sub-committee from his body would meet with the executive committee of the Cotton Manufacturers' Association in Greenville Saturday afternoon, 3 p. m., September 9. Invitations have been extended to Southern Railway officials and prominent cotton brokers of the South to be present and take part in the discussion.

The cotton manufacturers are unwilling that any action on their part should increase the danger of the introduction of the Mexican boll weevil in this State or into any South Atlantic State but they state that they believe that the danger has been exaggerated and that the quarantine of cotton from the five States mentioned above is rather drastic and unnecessary.

FELL FROM POLE; MET INSTANT DEATH

J. M. Smith, Lineman of Raleigh, was Killed
Yesterday Afternoon.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 5.—There was held this afternoon the funeral of J. M. Smith, the Capital City Telephone Company lineman, who fell to his death from a telephone pole last afternoon. He had been here in the service of the telephone company for over a year as "trouble man" and was a valued and reliable worker. He leaves a wife and four small children without means of support and Mrs. Smith is an orphan without kin people living to whom she can turn for aid. Smith fell twenty feet from a telephone pole and landed on his head, fracturing the skull about the forehead.

WATER SUPPLY IS GETTING BETTER

While the water in Reedy Fork and Horsepen creeks has not yet assumed its normal capacity the Board of Commissioners believe that the supply will be sufficient to meet the demands of the city and accordingly they have repealed the sprinkling ordinance in order that consumers can sprinkle their lawns in case it is needed.

However, say the officials, this should not be taken as meaning that water can be used regardless of quantity for if everyone began at once to make up for lost time the water situation would no doubt again become serious. While the ordinance has been repealed the city will not at once begin sprinkling the streets, believing it best to wait until the supply becomes more abundant.

For Change in the Law.

Raleigh, Sept. 5.—Former Lieutenant-Governor Francis D. Winston, is in the city attending the Supreme Court, which has the Second District Appeals before it this week. Asked as to the news in the good county of Bertie, this was the result:

"Nothing," said he, "absolutely nothing. The crops are good, but bumpy by any means. There is no special political movement. The health of the people is good. What more can the people want?"

Replying to a question about the affairs of the Bar Association said that he would soon give to the public a synopsis of the progressive matters that were considered by the recent Bar Association and which he says will ultimately revolutionize the practice in this State if enacted into law.

As president of the North Carolina Bar Association, Governor Winston has appointed several very able committees that are dealing with these subjects. In the absence of the statement, it is assumed that those matters are the increase of the number of judges, providing for emergency judges, providing for more speedy trials, arranging for calendars to save costs, the Torrens land title matter, and Solicitors' salaries.

The happy-hearted friend of all was looking so well and genial that the temptation could not be resisted to ask him what was of interest to him personally. With a merry twinkle, he said he had received a telegram from Stephen Kenney, eight-year-old nephew, telling him "that he had just killed a squirrel with his flobet rifle."

FINDS A NEW SALAMANDER.

Smithsonian Scientist Discovers the Reptile in Costa Rica.

Washington, Sept. 5.—A brand new Salamander has been discovered in Costa Rica, according to Dr. Leonhard Stejneger, a Smithsonian Institution scientist. This modern specimen of an ancient animal is a little more than two and one-half inches long, has a smooth brown skin, somewhat striped, a wide, flat head and a long cylindrical tail.

The salamander has been a theme for the nature fakirs from the days of Aristotle. Two ancient schools of naturalists disputed in vain whether the salamander was a fire-proof or a fire-creating animal until Pliny, the elder, in the First Century of the Christian Era, proved himself more practical than his conferees by putting a salamander in a fire; there by exploding both theories.

Today it is known as a not especially attractive amphibian, resembling a lizard and behaving like an ordinary reptile.

Chief Executives of the Harriman Railroad Lines, on Which a Great Strike Is Threatened.

A monster strike of employees is threatened on the railroad system known as the Harriman lines. The men demand recognition of their federated body. No wage dispute is involved. The number of union men concerned follows: Car men, 12,000; machinists, 7,000; boiler-makers, 3,000; blacksmiths, 2,000; sheet metal workers, 1,000; total, 25,000. The railroads affected and their mileage are: Union Pacific, 3,473 miles; Southern Pacific, 7,591; Oregon Short Line, 1,594; Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation company, 1,833; San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake, 1,075; Houston and Texas Central, 789; total 15,405. Mr. Kruttschnitt is vice president and general manager of the Harriman lines and Mr. Lovett is chairman of the board.

GOVERNOR BESIEGED BY APPLICANTS FOR JUDGESHIP

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 5.—Two delegations have called on Governor Kitchin to press the claims of favorite candidates for the judgeship of the Ninth district made vacant by the resignation of Judge J. Crawford Biggs, of Durham. One of the delegations came from Durham and was in the interest of H. A. Foushee, of that place, and the other was from Oxford and was in the interest of A. A. Hicks, Oxford, who is state senator from that senatorial district. In the Oxford delegation were Gen. B. S. Royter, W. A. Devin, T. G. Stem and D. G. Brummitt. In the Durham delegation were Victor S. Bryant, R. H. Sykes and R. P. Reade who urged the governor to appoint Durham's candidate, H. A. Foushee. The appointment can be expected at any time now and certainly lies between Hicks, Foushee and A. Wayland Cooke, of Greensboro, with indications that the appointment will most probably go to Hicks or Foushee.

Many After Position.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 5.—Among the numerous applicants for assistant state bank examiner to succeed Chas. V. Brown, promoted to State examiner to succeed J. Kemp Doughton, resigned, are Frank F. Fagan, Williamston; J. G. Nichols, Ruthertown; H. T. Hudson, Shelby; Wright Dixon, Raleigh; Mr. Armfield, Statesville, son of the late Judge Armfield. It seems certain that there will not be an appointment by the Corporation Commission for several days as Chairman Franklin McNeill and Commissioner W. T. Lee go at once to Richmond to attend the national convention of state tax officers for the consideration of tax problems.

ALLEGED SOLICITOR WILL BE TRIED THURSDAY MORNING

Special to Telegram.

Winston, Sept. 5.—On the charge of obtaining money under false pretense Mrs. Hattie E. Thompson, supposed to be from High Point, and the woman who is alleged to have faked as an agent for the Ladies' Home Journal, selling it in this city for $1 a year, when the unvarying price the country over is $1.50, will face Judge Hastings Thursday morning of this week.

The woman is now in jail and Jailer Adams stated last night that she demands two ounces of laudanum a day. The first known of her affinity for the drug was found out by Uncle Ed, the keeper of the city prison, while the woman was confined there. She appeared to be suffering greatly and pleaded with Uncle Ed to take some of her small change and get an ounce of laudanum. He brought the vial and proceeded to dose out a spoonful, which he handed through the bars. But the woman grew angry and would not have it unless he would let her have the bottle and dose it out herself. To please her Uncle Ed passed the bottle, when, to his amazement she drank the entire ounce. Uncle Ed stood by in terror to watch her die, and thinking what a mistake he had made, when, behold, she became much refreshed and appeared entirely well.

It now develops that Mrs. Thompson has many other names, which she uses at her pleasure. Policeman Cofer has collected a number of receipts which she gave those to whom she sold the paper in this city and in Greensboro. To Mrs. M. D. Stockton she wrote her name as "M. E. Martin," while with Mrs. R. M. Payne she signed her name, "Fannie Harris." At the homes of Dr. Lott and Dr. Gray she appeared as "M. E. Thompson." In Greensboro she went by the name of "Elizabeth Thomas." Mr. Cofer expects to collect many

REPORT OF HEALTH SUPERINTENDENT TO COMMISSIONERS

Special to Telegram.

At yesterday afternoon's session of the County Commissioners Dr. G. F. Ross made his first report to that body. The report showed just what had been done since he took charge of the work on July 1. The report was most encouraging and showed to the board the fact that Dr. Ross is doing a great deal to make health conditions better throughout the county. His work does not stop within the city of Greensboro and of High Point, as these cities have health superintendents. During the two months Dr. Ross has traveled more than a thousand miles, visiting all the rural schools of the county, attended to prisoners in the county jail and also ministered to some at the camps. There were 64 cases of typhoid fever in the rural sections of the county, only two deaths resulting. There were also four cases of smallpox, four of scarlet fever, two of diphtheria and one of measles.

England Is a Great Advertiser.

R. L. England, the auctioneer, is a great believer in advertising. He advertises all the time and says he finds it pays. He has conducted some of the largest sales in the country during the past five years, and has a big sale scheduled at Thomasville tomorrow.

others of these receipts before the trial Thursday. He will introduce them as evidence. Any one who has receipts given them by a lady from whom they bought the Ladies' Home Journal a year for $1 will greatly oblige the officers by letting them know of it before Thursday morning.

So far Mrs. Thompson has not employed a lawyer and she appears to be taking the matter very easily so long as she can secure laudanum.

MURPHY WAS NOT THE RIGHT MAN

Proved He was not in Albany When Alleged Crime was Committed.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 5.—W. J. Murphy, the Seaboard Air Line extra freight conductor who was under arrest here under the charge of taking part in a "badger game" at Albany, Ga., August 12 won out in his writ of habeas corpus fight against extradition to Georgia. He offered witnesses Saturday to prove his presence in Raleigh at the time the badger game was worked, a dozen witnesses testifying that this was the fact. Then counsel for the Georgia prosecution asked the judge to hold the case over until Monday so that witnesses could come from Georgia to overcome this evidence and justify extradition. However, when the Georgia witnesses, who included F. M. Bass, the turpentine operator, trapped at Albany, reached here and had opportunity to take a look at Murphy they agreed that he was not the man they were looking for.

POLICE TO HAVE AN AUTOMOBILE

No more are the drunks and downs of the city, as well as other classes of criminals doomed to ride to the calaboose in a wagon of the rickety variety behind a blind horse. The city officials have authorized the purchase of a police patrol, the power for which is to be furnished by a gasoline motor. The new equipment will be ready for use in a couple of months, by the time the calaboose is ready for occupancy.

The board will pay not more than $1,500 for the patrol wagon. A regular automobile running gear and engine will be equipped with a police patrol wagon body, with cover and sides, opening from the rear. This will be built in Greensboro and placed on the running gear of the auto. A regular driver will be licensed to operate the machine, most likely one of the police officers.

For several years the police department has practically been without a patrol and had to get prisoners to the station in the best way possible when they were unable to walk. The police-men are now wearing the smile "that won't come off" as a result of the announcement that they are to get occasional rides in a regularly equipped police automobile wagon.

WAKE TAX BOOKS IN NEED OF A KEEPER.

Raleigh, Sept. 5.—Sometime ago when the Register of Deeds, acting under advice of counsel, stated that under the new law it was not his duty to tabulate and compute the tax list as heretofore, but that this duty now devolved upon the County Auditor, the County Commissioners instructed the Register of Deeds to do this work under advice of the county attorney, but he declined to do it, holding that it was not his duty. County Auditor Holding wrote a letter to the County Commissioners enclosing the opinion of Messrs. Bickett and White, to the effect that the law made it the duty of the Register of Deeds. This opinion of Messrs. Bickett and White agreed with that given the County Commissioners some months ago by County Attorney Beckwith.

The Commissioners instructed County Auditor Holding to have the taxes computed in the best way possible for the best interests of the county so as to have them ready by the first of October, as required by law.

CITY WITHOUT A PENNY

Lawrence, Mass., Pays Out Its Last Cent.

Lawrence, Mass., Sept. 5.—This city, with its population of 100,000 people, faces a crisis in its history, and no one can foretell what the outcome will be. Saturday the City Treasurer paid out every cent remaining in the treasury to the employees of the municipality. It required considerable scraping on that individual's part to raise enough funds to pay all the bills presented, but he was finally successful.

At the present time the city is without a cent, and the hundreds of employees affected are wondering what will be done for them next week.

FRIENDS OF A. W. COOKE PETITION GOVERNOR KITCHIN

Urge Chief Executive to Appoint Guilford Man
As Ninth District
Judge.

The friends of A. Wayland Cooke are working with might and main to assist him in landing the judgeship of the Ninth Judicial District, made vacant by the resignation of Judge J. Crawford Biggs, of Durham. Already a petition signed by the entire membership of the Guilford Bar, urging upon Governor Kitchin the claims of Mr. Cooke as well as setting forth his qualifications for the judgeship, has been forwarded to Raleigh. A similar petition is being circulated among prominent citizens of the city and this will be forwarded to the Governor at once.

Not satisfied with this work a delegation of representative attorneys and citizens are arranging to go to Raleigh on Wednesday or Thursday to place in person Mr. Cooke's claims before the chief executive. A large number have already signified their intention of going down in behalf of Mr. Cooke's candidacy. It is more than probable that the Greensboro delegation will be joined by delegations from High Point, Burlington and other towns in the district. Mr. Cooke has many friends scattered all over the district and while some are advocating the candidacy of aspirants from their home towns it is not to be doubted but that Mr. Cooke is the more popular of the four candidates in the race.

It is not expected that the appointment will be made before the latter part of the week and until the decision of the Governor is made public there will be no let-up on the part of Mr. Cooke's friends in Guilford county.

CALLS SON; SHOTS HIM

Mother Then Walks Floor With Child In Her Arms.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 5.—"I'm going to shoot you Freddie," said Mrs. George W. Stone, aged 26, to her 4-year-old son, according to the police.

"No, mamma, let me shoot you," replied the boy jokingly.

Pointing a revolver at the boy, Mrs. Stone pulled the trigger, and the little fellow is in a critical condition at the City Hospital with a bullet wound through both lungs. Mrs. Stone is under arrest, and if the boy dies she will be charged with murder, according to the police. An examination into her mental condition will be made.

When the mother called the boy she was lying on the bed. Freddie came and nestled his head on her shoulder, gently stroking her face. Again she repeated the threat and before she realized it the child lay wounded on the bed beside her.

"Oh, mamma, you hurt me," sobbed the child.

The mother saw the blood reddening the pale blue sailor suit the boy wore. Grabbing him up, she walked the floor for half an hour before summoning the neighbors, she says.

"I have killed Freddie, help me," screamed the mother, and the neighbors rushed to her.

After being taken to police headquarters the mother pleaded that she might be allowed to see her boy. The police believe that she intended killing him and then commit suicide.

LYNCHING THREATENED

West Virginia Man Implicated in Beating Wife.

Fairmont, W. Va., Sept. 5.—Wesley Sutton is under arrest here charged with being one of a gang of four men who early Saturday dragged Mrs. Chattie Sutton from her bed and beat her with clubs, inflicting dangerous wounds. Warrants are out for the three other men. It is claimed Mrs. Sutton had been unfaithful to her husband and she had received letters threatening her that unless she desisted in certain practices she would suffer.

Saturday morning four masked men forced their way into the Sutton home, went to the bed chamber of the woman and did their cowardly work. Mrs. Sutton declares she tore the mask from the face of one of the men and recognized him as her husband. Neighbors hearing her screams sent for the police, but the men had escaped. Bloodhounds tracked the men to the home of another member of the party, who is at large.

Mr. Kirby's Alarm.

"The Menace to Business" is the caption of an alarm sounded in American Industries for September by John Kirby, Jr., president of the National Association of Manufacturers. We should have been better pleased had Mr. Kirby dispensed with generalities in his indictment and got down to brass tacks, but then there is no doubt of where the president of the Manufacturers' Association aims his rocks.

Mr. Kirby, who has just returned from a tour of Canada and Nova Scotia, found on every hand among business men "the opinion that a panic prevails in the United States," and one large manufacturer said to him: "Your people in the States seem to have lost their heads and gone off on a lot of wild exploded theories which are unbalancing your trade conditions and now you want us to help you out by ratifying your reciprocity proposition; business in Canada is on the boom; why should we do it? You have too much cheap politics and too much labor unionism. We have enough of those things, but they don't compare with yours."

And Mr. Kirby comes home, refreshed and with the courage to take the bark off those who dare make a move to which "business" objects. "The time has arrived," he says, "to speak plainly without regard to partisanship, creed or industry." He then boils it down in this nutshell:

"The trouble today with this country, that which has not only hampered industrial progress, but practically set the country back several years, can be divided into several parts, such as political agitation of self-seeking demagogues, increasing labor aggressiveness, misguided zeal on the part of so-called reformers, and inertia and indifference to conditions by business men and the general public. "The crux of the matter, it is hardly necessary to say, is the preparations for the Presidential election of 1912. No one at all conversant with politics will doubt that Congressional activity as represented by the numerous committee investigations, is inspired by a desire to make political capital in anticipation of next year's election. As President Taft said in vetoing the wool bill, the 'parliamentary history' of these investigations is 'not reassuring.'"

And Mr. Kirby is genuinely alarmed. "A halt must be called," he declares, "on the pernicious and harmful activity of a certain political element, both in and out of Congress. Our lawmakers, your representatives and mine, must be compelled to cease their agitation, and they must be shown that business prosperity can not wait upon intrigue and scheming for political preferment. In this effort to check pernicious agitation partisanship must be forgotten."

Indeed, President Kirby places those manufacturers who for a half century plus have been beneficiaries of special advantages at the public's cost, in the position of the open-minded white man who, when it came to a division of game, said to the Indian, "I'll take the turkey and you take the buzzard, or you take the buzzard and I'll take the turkey."

If honest business is alarmed at the approach of government by Democrats the alarm is quite unwarranted. Its only danger is in being hit by a brick when a trust "busts." But it is a bit entertaining to have the gentlemen, some of whom furnished the grease when Mark Hanna et al. fried the fat and thereby contributed to buying longer leases of power for a party whose excesses were causing a storm of revolt to gather, to appeal for nonpartisan protection from their own handiwork. The gentlemen fear a whirlwind; certainly they have been most industriously sowing the wind.

The principal "theory" the majority of the people of the United States are "going after" is not a "wild exploded" theory. They simply wish equal opportunities for all and special privileges for none. And the longer they are in securing that condition the harder the tumble for the special privileges.—The Columbia State.

Give the Boys and Girls a Chance.

Schools may not make men and women but they will always help. Certainly the lack of educational advantages will not make men and women. Because the little Jog school, house with the slab benches and two-by-four blackboard has turned out strong men and noble women, it does not follow that they would not have been even stronger and nobler and have had greater influence for good if they had had better advantages in their youth. Because your hero, perhaps, learned his letters for himself by a flickering fire of lightwood knots and got most of his learning in the "School of Hard Knocks," it does not follow that there is no better way of training men. All the evidence agrees that the more of opportunity, the more of culture, there can be put into the life of boy or girl, the better will be his or her chances of development into the worthiest and most useful type of manhood and womanhood. We believe, with Elbert Hubbard, that it is a good thing for a boy to have had the privilege of warming his feet cold mornings on the ground where the cows lay the night before; but we also believe that it is good for him to have had the privilege of going to a schoolhouse made neat and bright and cheerful without and within, and of advancing from that schoolhouse to higher institutions of learning where he can breathe the air of academic inspiration, absorb the traditions and ideals of his college, and acquire all that it can give of learning and culture and breadth of thought.—The Progressive Farmer.

THE CHINESE SCHOOLBOY.

His Feats of Memory—His Competitive Examinations.

A Chinese schoolboy sets off one fine morning when 7 or 8 years old to enter on his instructional course. He makes the most profound obeisance to his teacher. His parents provide the table at which and the stool on which he sits. They also supply the "four precious articles," the ink slab, the ink cake, the pen or brush for writing and the paper. He will have no need at first of the writing materials, all his time being employed in memorizing the books given him. Perhaps a dozen boys, each a class by himself, are busy on his entry. Each is shouting his task at the top of his voice, the teacher sitting at his table in all the somnolent wakefulness of a judge. No wrong pronunciation or inflection escapes his practiced ear, and correction is frequent.

It is a simple country house, with its earthen floor, its unglazed windows and its air of utter poverty. Our young hopeful in due time is introduced to the "Trimetrical Classic" and the questionable statement which forms its very threshold, that "Men at birth are radically good," so set in classical form that he has no more idea of its meaning than if it were in Greek. It is not meaning, however, that is the object just now but sound and memorizing.

Then he will be introduced to the book of surnames, 400 in number, as another exercise in "getting by heart," after which, in some parts of the land, the "Thousand Character Classic" is set. This is a book consisting of the number of characters named, no one of which is ever used twice. Still no explanation is vouchsafed. For all the learning our youth is gaining he might with equal profit memorize a number of auction catalogues. He is given in varying order according to the custom followed by his teacher, the four sacred books—the "Great Learning," also known as "The Door of Virtue;" the "Analects" of Confucius, the "Doctrine of the Mean," and the "Book of Mencius."

As early as 13 or 14, it may be, he will have done the memory work of the four books and be capable of reciting off "yards, rods, furlongs or miles" of learning. Then enlightenment in the form of explanation begins. Darkness is made visible, and education may be said to have begun. There is wearisome work in sight now.

As if the books themselves were not of sufficient difficulty there are endless commentaries after the fashion of our own on the Bible or Shakespeare. The "Great Learning" provides illustrations of virtue, aims at the constant renewal of good, and so at the attainment of the highest excellence. Its ideal is a righteous government over a tranquil and happy people. The "Doctrine of the Mean" is more strictly individualistic. Correct conduct in every stage of life is its subject.

The chief competitive examinations are three in number, the first, for the Shu-tsai, or B. A. degree, is held at the Prefectural city; the second, the Ku-jen, or M. A., at the Provincial capital; and the third, the Tsai-shi, or LL. D., at Peking. In one or other of these the clever youth whose career we are following may possibly find himself in a peculiar position as competitor with his own father, and even his grandfather, who, with more perseverance than luck or brains, keep "pegging away" year after year till success arrives—or death.

Many are the attempts at trickery, cribbing, bribery, or whatever may bring the candidate sufficiently near the top; to be one of the favored few who "pass" the percentage of these being fractionally small at times. To guard against fraud there are precautions such as could never have been suggested in the West.

Every candidate has his own little cell in which he works during the days of the examination. Not a few die under the ordeal. "Any essay is good which gives a man his M. A.," says the proverb and "if one comes out first on the Dragon list there is a chance within 10 years of being in the Phoenix pool," which being interpreted means that he who heads the M. A. list is likely by and by to become a Hanlin. So indeed it happens to our young hopeful, now arrived at years of much discretion. He even becomes the Chuang Yuan of his year, the Laureate or Senior Classic, as he might be named in the West.

Whereupon on his return to his native province he is received with the highest honors from the highest people, the Viceroy leading, and then a curious thing happens. Many of the people of the province having the same surname apply for the honor of being permitted to worship at the ancestral hall of the successful genius and accompany their appeals with valuable persuasives. They thus establish a claim to relationship with the amiable desire of having a friend at court.—National Review.

KEEPING TRACK OF FREIGHT.

Five Great Gateways Through Which Traffic Flows.

Five great gateways of traffic are situated in different parts of the United States. Through these, generally speaking, freight moving east or west that passes from one line of railroad to another must go.

They are Chicago, East St. Louis, Ill.; East Hannibal, Mo.; Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Minnesota Transfer, Minn. They are known as freight transfer stations, and have been established to facilitate the interchange of traffic between different lines.

In a sense, these freight transfer stations resemble the great clearing houses of the associated banks in big cities like New York and Chicago, but instead of bills and coin, they handle daily thousands of loaded freight cars.

Instead of bank checks, such as the financial clearing houses sort out every morning, when they balance their accounts, the freight transfer stations have hundreds of thousands of bigger and more unwieldy pieces of paper which are called way bills, which represent the tremendous volume of merchandise in the loaded cars.

Also there are the bills of lading, which answer the same purpose, but in a different way. If the value of the costly freight passing through one of these great gateways each day could be computed, it would not fall far behind the day's business of the New York clearing house itself.

In addition to these five transfer stations that handle only business that passes over two or more different lines of rails before reaching its destination, each of the great railroad systems has many similar transfer stations for the interchange of freight traffic between the various roads of which it is composed. A big system like the New York Central lines, for example, is made up of 12 different railroads, each a distinct corporation.

For the purposes of accounting, each of these lines is treated in the books as though it were a foreign company, although the rules for the interchange of freight traffic between the various roads of a system are modified from those which govern the same work between two separate systems interchanging business at any of the four great gateways in the West. Yet the organization of domestic freight transfer stations, such as those on the New York Central lines, does not differ materially from that of the railroads which meet at Chicago, East St. Louis, East Hannibal or Council Bluffs.

Each system has from 10 to 50 of these freight transfer stations located at the various junction points of its allied lines. The New York Central, for example, has 31. There is no better place for a young man to get a thorough, practical knowledge of everything connected with the actual handling of the freight traffic than a freight transfer station.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

HERMITS WITH RICHES.

Men of Great Wealth Who Lived in Poverty.

The "vanity of riches" has never been more strikingly demonstrated than by the story of G. E. Dering, who recently died at Lockley Hall, Welwyn.

For the greater part of half a century this lord of many acres and a quarter of a million in money, says Tit-Bits, has been content to lead the life of a hermit in his magnificent home, surrounded by a thousand acres of park land. His valuable pictures—by Holbein, Fra Bartolomeo and other old masters—have stood for a generation stacked three deep, with their faces turned to the walls. A generation of dust has settled undisturbed on Dresden vases, gold and enamel clocks, statuary and costly furniture.

Gorgeous carriages, rich with heraldic painting, lay rotting in his coach house; his front door was overgrown with ivy as high as the stone shield of arms that dorn it. Not even a lamb was allowed to bleat within the hearing of the lord of this desolate mansion. And even the high road was diverted that no sound of traffic should vex his ears. Thus, amid lust, decay and desolation, lived and died the owner of £250,000 a year, shunning the world and scorning his wealth.

And so it has always been and always will be. One man squanders his gold, another hoards or despises it. It is but a few years since one of our wealthiest baronets—a man with a rent roll of £30,000 a year—died in a miserable attic near Waterloo Bridge. His sordid room was papered with illustrations from the weekly papers; he never crossed the threshold except for an occasional solitary ramble by night; no one was ever allowed to enter his dreary sanctum his meals being left for him outside the door and his long days were spent looking through his attic window on the moving panorama of the Thames.

While Sir Henry Delves Broughton was sitting at his attic window a man infinitely richer was walking the streets of St. Petersburg in the guise of the beggar, pocketing the alms of charitable passersby and gleefully carrying back his spoils to his miserable two-storied cottage in one of the city slums.

This was the only "palace" of the multimillionaire Coldovnikoff, where he lived among his decrepit sticks of furniture with an old housekeeper. Here he would sit shivering through the cold winter days, too miserly to allow himself a fire or even to brighten the dark house with the light of a solitary candle. For 20 years he was known to wear only one suit, a "thing of shreds and patches," scarcely a vestige of the original cloth remaining. And yet this sordid living hermit was one of the greatest landowners and railway magnates in all Russia, a man who left behind him a hundred million rubles. Far wealthier than many kings, he led a life from which most peasants would have shrunk.

A few years ago there was no wealthier man in all Paris than M. Colasson, who for a generation had lived as a pauper in two rooms of his magnificent palace in the Rue Galilee. During all this period he never once left his splendid prison, and no one was ever allowed to enter it except his one faithful attendant who kept him supplied with his daily food of bread and eggs. As in Mr. Dering's case, it was the death of a father that consigned him to his hermit life, so with M. Colasson it was the tragic death by fire of a loved nephew and heir in 1874 that decided him to forego the world and all its vanities.

Within a few weeks of the death of M. Colasson there died in an attic in a Berlin slum one Herr Schwartz, who was known to and pitied by his neighbors as the poorest of the poor. He sailed out daily into the fashionable quarters dressed in rags and carrying a sack in which he collected crusts.

He lived alone and died alone a mere bag of bones surrounded by riches, for in his room was found £80,000 in gold coins and in bank notes, with which his pillows and mattresses were stuffed.

A Pointer for Seedsmen.

There is a remarkable interest in the South for better seeds. Farmers are waking up to the fact that it takes good seed to produce a good crop, and are both buying and selling more seed to an extent never known before.

It will be admitted, however, that much of the seed offered for sale is not of extra quality, and we feel sure that a good many of the people who are offering seeds for sale have not studied the matter of seed selection and seed grading sufficiently to enable them to give their customers first class seeds. In plain words, some people are offering seeds for sale, possibly with the best intention in the world, who do not know what it takes to constitute good seeds. Now, the demand for improved seeds is not going to be decreased by the sale of these inferior selections, except temporarily with some individuals, but as the farmers learn better how to judge the quality of seeds and also learn who supplies good seed and who sells poor, the men who are offering seed of inferior quality are going to find their trade decreasing, while that of the man who knows what he is doing increases. The production of seed for planting is interesting, valuable and profitable work, and there are any number of comfortable competences in it for the men who learn how to produce good seeds and then sell no other kind. The man who offers crib-selected corn and ordinary cotton seed for planting, however, may make some money out of the business for a year or two, but he is likely soon to be left with few customers. The production of good seeds is not a business for the careless or the ignorant man, and such men when they offer seed for planting do more harm than good.—The Progressive Farmer.

FOLEY'S KIDNEY REMEDY (Liquid.)

Is a great medicine of proven value for both acute and chronic kidney and bladder ailments. It is especially recommended to elderly people for its wonderful tonic and reconstructive qualities, and the permanent relief and comfort it gives them. Howard Gardner.

Trying to reach a man's heart through his stomach sometimes merely results in indigestion.

STOMACH DISTRESS' INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA VANISH

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your Pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

GOVERNORS OF FORTY STATES WILL CONFER.

Serious Business Will Rule Gathering at Spring Lake, N. J.

Spring Lake, N. J., Sept. 5.—For the first time within recent American history the governors of approximately 40 of the 46 States, will meet in conference here Tuesday, September 12. Thirty-seven chief executives have accepted the call outright, several from nearby commonwealths have yet to be heard from and of the small remainder those who can so arrange their duties will attend for, at least, a portion of the time. The original conference at the White House, held upon call of President Roosevelt in 1907, was attended by thirty-three conferees.

The full five days of the program will be devoted to discussion of questions now uppermost in the minds of statesmen, while social affairs will be kept in the background. Last year at Louisville a round of entertainment was provided which took so much time that the business of the conference was curtailed.

When they adjourned to meet at Spring Lake, the governors told Governor Wilson that they wanted to come this year for serious business, and would leave the social end to their wives and others who might accompany them. Accordingly, Governor Wilson and the committee have refused to allow any entertainments to be arranged, except a reception at the State Cottage at Sea Girt, September 12, and a dinner to be given the following Thursday.

On the program are topics of widespread interest. Added interest to the gathering will be given by the presence of two prominent Democratic governors, presidential possibilities, Judson Harmon of Ohio, and Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey.

President Taft may be present for one day and address the meeting, but this has not been definitely arranged.

HANDICAPPED

This is the Case With Many Greensboro People.

Too many Greensboro citizens are handicapped with a bad back. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief, but cannot reach the cause. To eliminate the pains and aches you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills help sick kidneys.

The following statement should convince every Greensboro reader of their efficacy.

F. C. Remfrey, 512 S. Main St., High Point, N. C., says: "I was in such a miserable condition with kidney trouble that I did not believe there was any cure for me. My back and limbs were so sore that I could not get up after sitting without assistance and it was impossible for me to go about easily. The kidney secretions were also scanty and highly colored. I doctored and took medicine faithfully, but I did not improve. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and the contents of three boxes made a permanent cure."

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivalled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Scouring the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. SENATOR BOURNE FOR LA FOLLETTE FOR PRESIDENT

Congressman Norris of Nebraska and Senator Works of California Also in Line for La Follette--Wisconsin Man Gains Strength in Opposition to Taft.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Senator Jonathan Bourne, of Oregon, has issued a statement declaring himself for Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, for the Presidency.

While Senator La Follette has not announced his candidacy, and probably will not, all the progressive Republicans of both houses, with a very few exceptions, have now declared him their candidate.

Senator Bourne says in his statement: "Why have I for months been so insistently for Senator La Follette for President? Because he has many of the qualifications which I believe are absolutely necessary for a man to possess in order properly to fill the high office of the Nation's chief public servant. He believes in popular, not delegated, government; realizes that general welfare, not selfish interests, must be the motive power of all successful and permanent government. He is honest, courageous, able, dynamic, with 25 years' experience in legislative and executive public life. Though radical in manner, he is extremely conservative in thought, and action, with high ideals, broad ideas and strong convictions. General welfare is his goal and selfish interest his abomination.

"I urge the big business interests of the country to study the laws of Wisconsin enacted since he was first governor of that State; hold him as the dynamo personality of that electorate responsible for all these laws. If investigation shows them to be protective of personal liberty and property, rights, then support him for President. If destructive of personal liberty and property rights, bitterly oppose his candidacy. Such an investigation will show Wisconsin laws to be constructive, not destructive; progressive, not reactionary; intelligently conservative, not blindly radical.

"Senator La Follette is a statesman, not a politician; deep thinker, not a demagogue. His candidacy presents an opportunity to nominate and elect a President on his record, and not on another man's indorsement or promise to follow in another's footsteps. He can, and in my opinion will, be nominated, and if nominated will unquestionably be elected."

Norris Out for Senate.

Representative George W. Norris of Nebraska, Republican progressive, the man who led the fight to unhorse Speaker Cannon, has announced that he will be a candidate for the United States senate in opposition to Senator Norris Brown, supporter of President Taft. Mr. Norris declares he will wage a fight to obtain a delegation from Nebraska to the next Republican national convention for La Follette. The fight will be a double one, Taft-Brown against La Follette-Norris.

Representative Norris left Washington for his home in Nebraska today to organize the fight. He was accompanied west by Walter L. Houser, who is in charge of La Follette national headquarters in Washington. Mr. Houser is going west to do a little quiet organizing for La Follette.

"The first State to declare itself on the Presidential issue," said Representative Norris before taking the train today, "will be North Dakota, where a primary, under a presidential preference law, will be held in March. Letters from there justify the conclusion that the State will be for La Follette by from five to one, to ten to one.

"It is true that I have announced myself a candidate for the Senate against Senator Brown, and I expect to win. Mr. Brown voted for reciprocity; I voted against it. I have no uncertainty about the primary outcome. I will win by a big majority. The only uncertainty that can possibly enter it relates to the fact that there are many Republicans in the State who are today disposed to absent themselves from the primaries.

"They are determined never to vote for Taft, and take the view that they ought not to mix in Republican primaries because of that intention.

Taft Not Sure of Nomination.

"However, we will have them convinced in plenty of time that they can not afford to take this course; that Taft is not at all certain of nomination and that a few early voting States, of which Nebraska is one, will convince the national Republican party that the disaster of defeat can be avoided by preventing the nomination of Taft.

Word was received here today that Senator Works of California, has announced his preference for Mr. La Follette for the Presidency over Mr. Taft. However, if Mr. Taft is nominated Mr. Works, who is a progressive, says he will stand by the party's choice.

A good bluff makes more noise than great riches.

REVIEW OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS BY SENATOR LA FOLLETTE

Senator Remains in Washington Doing Literary Work—For Political Reasons, is Charged by Some—La Follette and the Republican Nomination.

Special to Telegram.

(By VICTOR ELLIOTT.)

Washington, Sept. 5.—Undaunted by the long and strenuous extra session of Congress just closed, Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, will brave the hot weather of the city and remain in Washington for several months working on a review of public affairs for the past thirty years as he has seen them. Senator La Follette is one of the few members of Congress whose capacity for pleasure in hard work will cause him to forsake a pleasure trip to the mountains or the sea shore. Even during these hot days which Washington has recently experienced, the ambitious Senator from Wisconsin has secluded himself either in his home or at his office in the capitol building working industriously upon his political review of the past.

There are many in Washington who scoff at the idea of Senator La Follette's remaining here entirely for the purpose of working on this review. They say that if his real purpose is to remain here to write he would have sought some secluded spot in the mountains or some quiet sea shore where he could write without interruption. These men, and many of them are close to the Senator, claim that he is here preparing for the battle that he is to wage next year in the Senate. In addition they claim that he is quietly formulating plans by which he hopes to gain control of the next Republican convention, and succeed in nominating some progressive Republican for President. No one any longer doubts the fact that a bitter battle for control of the convention between the stand-patters and the progressives will be waged.

While Senator La Follette has not openly announced his candidacy for President, it cannot be denied that he is ambitious and that as leader of the progressives, if they should gain control of the convention, he would be their logical choice. It is known that the progressives are bound by a pledge to support to the last ditch one of their number whom they deem could make the best fight, and that the one they choose must accept the nomination regardless of whether he considered it desirable or not. Politicians consider that Senator La Follette is as much actually in the field seeking nomination as if he had made an open declaration of his candidacy.

There exists between the progressive Republicans and the stand-patters a bitter animosity, and in the intervening months between now and the opening of the next session of Congress it may be expected that in every State presents the slightest appearance for the debatable ground, a campaign will be carried on for the purpose of securing La Follette delegates.

It is generally conceded that, should the progressives gain control of the convention, La Follette will be choice for President, although Senator Cummins, of Iowa, and Senator Clapp of Minnesota, have been mentioned in that connection.

While the progressives refuse to disclose any of their plans for gaining control of the convention, they make no secret of the fact that they intend waging a bitter fight against the administration. Senator Borah of Idaho, one of the insurgents in the Senate, when asked who the possible candidate would be said:

"I think you will make no mistake in picking Bob La Follette. He is a fearless fighter, and well deserves the name of 'Fighting Bob.' He will make a fight regardless of the chances of victory."

The campaign of the progressives will be waged by skilled politicians and in this campaign La Follette himself, a politician whose skill is not disputed in any quarter, will keep in close touch with the happenings and direct the fight. Funds will not be lacking to prosecute the campaign and while the Wisconsin Senator realizes that it will be an uphill fight, this will not deter him from carrying it through to a finish.

Senator La Follette is entering upon this fight has not reckoned wildly. He has given careful consideration to every chase against him. No man in the country understands better the obstacles which must be overcome to give him the nomination. He is not so blind as to see that indications point to the renomination of President Taft. Senator La Follette, in his struggle for the Governorship of Wisconsin, learned one lesson which few politicians learn, and that is not to fear defeat, that through defeat success is often accomplished. As an instance of this, Senator La Follette points to his defeat as a candidate for Governor. Four successive times he ran for the office and was defeated, but he con-

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

Barely steady.

WEATHER FAVORABLE.

New Orleans, Sept. 5.—A Washington long range forecast says conditions are favorable for Normal temperatures and generally fair weather over Southern States during coming week except that occasional showers are probable along coast.

REPORTS UNFAVORABLE EAST OF MISSISSIPPI.

New Orleans, Sept. 5.—The Commercial-Appel says: Reports are unfavorable east of the Mississippi river and Louisiana. In Arkansas the feeling is slightly more hopeful by reason of cessation of rains and in Oklahoma and Texas where decided improvement in condition is indicated. Georgia reports a disappointing outturn. Very heavy rains and windstorm damaged crops in Carolinas. In Alabama and Mississippi damage from insects is very heavy. In Texas and Oklahoma general improvement since the rains and with late frost material addition is looked for.

OKLAHOMA COTTON SLUMP.

New Orleans, Sept. 5.—Guthrie, Okla., wires: Professor Hennessy, secretary of State Board of Agriculture, says, commenting on federal crop reports on Oklahoma, cotton slumped more in August than any other state, yet the government report strikes me as little too low and from information I have before me and the large increase in acreage, I can hardly predict anything other than a bumper crop.

BOXING MATCH IN NEW YORK THIS EVENING

New York, Sept. 5.—The sporting element of New York is looking forward with much pleasure to the ten rounds bout to be pulled off tonight between Joe Jeannette, of Hoboken, and Sam Langford, of Boston. Both pugilists have been doing extra training for the event and each is confident that he can finish out the knockout blow. The fight will be pulled off at Madison Square Garden.

CONCERT AND FESTIVAL WILL BE GREATLY ENJOYED.

If the weather permits the ladies of the Greensboro Playground and Kindergarten Association will give a free open air concert, followed by an ice cream festival, on the playground on North Green street on Thursday evening from 10:30 to 11 o'clock. Elaborate preparations are being made to make the occasion an auspicious one and if the weather is favorable there will no doubt be a large attendance. During the evening before the festival is pulled off the Union Textile Band, of the mills, will give a most enjoyable concert. This band is considered one of the best in the State and is arranging to render a number of the latest pieces of music.

Sends Troops To Mountains.

Badajos, Spain, Sept. 3.—The Portuguese government has spread 50,000 troops throughout the mountainous region to suppress the activities of the Royalists agents.

MECKLENBURG TO HAVE AGRICULTURAL INSPECTOR.

Charlotte, Sept. 5.—The majority of the time at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of County Commissioners yesterday was occupied with the paying of the various bills which Mecklenburg has incurred during the past month. During the course of the meeting, the board heard a delegation from the upper portion of the county, relative to the building of a bridge across the Catawba river, for the purpose of connecting Mecklenburg with Lincoln county. Perhaps the most important action of the meeting was the appropriation of an annual sum of $900, which is to be used for the purpose of maintaining an agricultural commissioner for this county. This appropriation is in line with the campaign conducted by Dr. S. A. Knapp, who originated this county agricultural commissioner plan throughout the South. Securing the co-operation of the government, he has managed to procure a portion of the Rockefeller educational fund for the furtherance of this project. It was agreed that the county of Mecklenburg should receive $300 per annum toward the salary of a competent man for the position of commissioner, provided that the county give the remainder of his salary. It will be the duty of this commissioner to visit the farmers throughout Mecklenburg and instruct them in the most scientific and modern methods of agriculture. Also to supervise their efforts along these lines, and intervals to inspect the efforts of the tiller of the soil. There has been such a man in the county for the past three years, but hitherto he has been under the direction and orders of the United States government. The new position should provide even better facilities for modern and scientific farming in the county.

ATTRACTIVE NEW HOMES.

R. C. Hood, Secretary and Manager of the North Carolina Trust Company, is just finishing up four of the most attractive houses in Greensboro on Magnolia Court, near North Elm street, at Fisher Park. The streets and yards will be graded in a few days and shrubbery planted in the court when the weather will permit.

These houses are unique in design and finished with hardwood floors, built-in book-cases, china closets, nooks and window seats. They contain high grade steam heating plants which also furnish abundant hot water night and day for kitchen and bath room. Gas ranges are to be installed in the bright, airy kitchens and each house contains a breakfast room in addition to the main dining room.

The material used in construction is of highest quality and all floors are doubled and the houses will last almost indefinitely and meanwhile be comfortable all over as the heating plant which is modern and inexpensive to maintain, reaches every room and hall way so that the occupant has the use of the whole house during cold weather. There are closets galore, everywhere, big ones.

The houses are for sale at reasonable prices on easy terms and as Mr. Hood says, they are good houses for good people.

MAN COULD EFFECT A CURE

Husband Has Unique Plan for Restoring Wife Who Imagines That She is at Point of Death.

"There is nothing the matter with your wife, absolutely nothing, but a case of nerves; still she insists she is going to die and if we do not find some way to make her want to live she probably will die."

"If that is all that is the matter, doctor, I will have her well in ten minutes."

"I don't believe it."

"Well, I will. I will go in right now and tell her that you said she could not possibly live, and I shall ask her what she thinks of Widow Simpson for my second wife."

Localized.

In one place, at least, the rose is not permitted to "smell as sweet by any other name," and that place is Scotland.

An attaché of the American embassy at London tells of a stranger presenting himself to play golf at North Berwick, seeking out some one in authority upon the matter.

"What name?" asked the dignified official.

"De Neuville," the stranger replied. "Koh," said the official in a tone of disgust, "we canna bother ourselves wi' names like that at North Berwick. Ye'll start in the mornin' at 10:15 to the name of Fairgusson."

Little Surprises.

"You take that seat; I'd rather ride backward than forward."

"Thanks, no; I don't need any pencil. My fountain pen is always in good working order."

"John Smith is my real name, your honor; I never use an alias when I'm run in."

"You have taken your time about it, George, dear; I'd have said yes if you had asked me six months ago."

"I missed my train downtown this morning Maria, on account of having stopped to mail that letter you handed me."

"Go ahead with your conversation, barber; I like to hear you talk."

Unkind.

In a New York street car a young man attracted the attention of the other passengers by leaping from his seat and picking up something from between the slats of the floor. Then he asked, "Did anybody lose a $5 gold piece?" A ministerial looking man got up from his seat at the other end of the car and started toward the young man with outstretched hand.

"Yes," he said, "I dropped a $5 gold piece when I got on, but owing to the crush I couldn't find it."

"Very well," said the young man gleefully, "here's a nickel toward it."

And a kiss in the dark is one kind electric spark.

The Progressive People of This Town Send Messages to Each Other Through the Want Ads!

When an employer publishes a help wanted ad he knows that only progressive people will see and answer it. When a property owner prints a "real estate for sale" ad he knows that not many people will read it except those who are able and inclined to buy real estate. When a landlord advertises a house or apartment for rent he knows that, as a rule, only the "business like" people read and answer such ads. And that he is not apt to secure an undesirable tenant in that way. And the work-seeker, the capital-seeker, the "sub-landlord" who has rooms to rent—these all know that their messages are interesting to live and progressive people—that no others read "the want ad messages."

THERE'S A WANT AD MESSAGE FOR YOU IN ALMOST EVERY ISSUE of this PAPER!

DISASTROUS WRECK ON RAILWAY NEAR ERIE, PA.

Erie, Pa., Sept. 5.—Four are dead and at least forty injured, the result of the wreck of Erie and Pittsburg passenger train No. 201 last night. The wreck occurred at Dock Junction, four miles west of this city, and came as the result of a collision between the Erie and Pittsburg train and a Lake Shore freight train that was backing into a switch to allow the passenger train to get through. The wreck occurred at 8:55 o'clock and the passenger train was running thirty minutes behind its schedule.

A telephone message was received here for every available ambulance and physician. A relief train was also hurried to the scene of the disaster and by this time the entire train was a mass of flames. The four dead had been pinned under the wreckage and at midnight their bodies had not been recovered.

According to reports in railroad circles tonight, Engineer Jones, who was in charge of the passenger, disregarded a red light and this was the cause of the collision. He was running thirty minutes behind his schedule, and was endeavoring to make up some of the lost time when the accident occurred.

The smoking car was turned half over and the injured crawled through the broken windows. Those of the passengers who had escaped uninjured rushed to the assistance of those less fortunate. The fire on the cars was extinguished before they were completely burned.

DURHAM COUNTY TO HAVE NEW COURT HOUSE.

Durham, Sept. 5.—The county commissioners yesterday unexpectedly took up the court house proposition, gave the required three months notice that the site is to be moved and announced the purchase of the Parrish warehouse for its location.

This ends a rather acrimonious discussion of sites, to which talk must be ascribed the delay in building the court house. There were two places in the minds of the commissioners, over which all the trouble arose. The Chapel Hill Lowland site had been picked. Then the warehouse advocates secured consideration and long debate followed. Finally the commissioners quit in disgust.

Grand juries reported them for dereliction, but nothing came of it. The renewal this afternoon of the issue, finally settling it for December meeting, is understood to be the last of it. The court house will cost a quarter of a million.

Advocates of the opposite view are appalled by the well-founded rumor that their site is to be made the location for the interurban railway station, thus connecting Durham and Charlotte.

Cold cash makes an excellent hot weather comfort.

COURT CAUSES PROSECUTION TO CUT EXAMINATION

Said Witness was on Stand too Long Yesterday—Rebuttal Begins.

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va., Sept. 5.—Henry Clay Beattie came into court this morning showing no effects of the grilling cross-examination at the hands of Prosecutor Wendenberg yesterday. Court was called to order at 9:20 and the defendant was again called to the stand. Prosecutor Wendenberg announced that he would shortly complete the cross-examination of the court having previously stated that the witness had been subjected to too long an ordeal on yesterday. The court limited the cross-examination to one hour.

The witness was then asked regarding his testimony yesterday when he had stated that the fatal ride was taken at the request of his wife.

"How can you explain the fact that at the exact point where your wife was killed the gun which your cousin Paul bought for you was found," the witness was asked.

"I can't explain it. I know nothing about the gun."

While on the stand Beattie bore himself well and the jury was evidently impressed with the straightforward manner in which he replied to the questions propounded. When Beattie was excused the defense rested and the prosecution began its rebuttal.

The first witness called was Harry Latham, whose testimony was intended to prove that Henry called Paul Beattie over the phone to make an engagement on the night Paul swore Henry visited him and commissioned him to buy the gun. Latham swore that he heard Henry say he was going as far as the corner of Short and May streets. This is the point where Paul said he agreed to meet Henry. On cross-examination the witness said that Henry made no effort to keep the facts secret.

Mrs. J. B. Houchins, mother-in-law of Paul Beattie, was then placed upon the stand. She testified that on Thursday, July 13, at 9 o'clock she answered the phone and said it was Henry Beattie at the other end of the phone. Henry asked her where Paul was. She heard Paul say over the phone "You want me to meet you at the corner of Twelfth and Main streets in fifteen minutes. I'll be there." She stated that Paul went out and came back within half an hour.

"Did Paul tell you Henry confessed to him about killing his wife," the prosecution asked the witness.

"No."

Attorney Smith, for the defense, attempted to impeach the witness regarding her testimony that Henry called Paul over the telephone and made an engagement. She stated in answer to a question that she had never seen or spoken to Henry until after the funeral of his wife.

John Joseph testified that on July 13 Paul came into his confectionary store, accompanied by Henry. Frank Mason said that he saw Paul go into the store, being followed by Henry. He was corroborated by John Britton. William McEvoy testified that he had seen Paul and Henry Beattie in his father's bar either on Wednesday, Thursday or Friday.

FELT BAD ALL THE TIME

Shellhorn Lady Suffered a Great Deal, But Is All Right Now.

Shellhorn, Ala.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Carrie May says: "A short time ago, I commenced to have weak spells and headaches. I felt bad all the time, and soon grew so bad I couldn't stay up. I thought I would die. At last my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, and it helped me; so he got some more. After I had taken the second bottle, I was entirely well. I wish every lady, suffering from womanly trouble, would try Cardui. It is the best medicine I know of. It did me more good than anything I ever used."

Cardui is a woman's tonic—a strengthening medicine for women, made from ingredients that act specifically on the womanly organs, and thus help to build up the womanly constitution to glowing good health. As a remedy for woman's ills, it has a successful record of over 50 years. Your druggist sells it. Please try it.

Negro In a Predicament.

Will Maness, colored, was arrested out beyond the water works in the house of a negro woman last evening. When found he was too drunk to tell the sheriff what his name was. It seems that the negro Maness had gotten drunk and then wandered to the home of a negro, who was away from home. Not knowing what he was doing he went into the house and tore up things in general. When the negro woman, to whom the house belonged, came home she found all of the furniture upset and Maness asleep in a chair. He had not taken anything and concealed it with the intent to steal, and the authorities believe that he was simply too drunk to know what he was doing.

Negro Kills Negro In Wilmington. Wilmington, Sept. 5.—Another murder was committed last night at 8:30 o'clock, near the city limits, when Jim Wilson, colored, shot and killed Walter Henry, also colored. Wilson made his escape, but a search is being made for him by both city and county officers. The negroes were out hunting together during the day, returning early in the evening. They were playing with each other in front of the house of one of the two, when they became involved in a quarrel, ending in the killing of Henry.

DEPARTMENT STORE GREENSBORO

75 PER CENT. OF THE BIG ADVERTISERS OF AMERICA PREFER EVENING NEWSPAPERS

Out of 400 Large Department Stores 302 say they Prefer Evening Papers and Give Reasons Why

(FROM THE LOS ANGELES RECORD)

OUT of 400 letters sent to the large Department Stores of America asking which they considered a better medium for advertising, a morning or an evening daily newspaper, 392 replied. Of these replies 302 stated they preferred the evening newspaper for advertising; 26 stated they gave the evening paper first copy when they used an evening and a morning paper. As the Department Stores are always the largest advertisers in their respective cities and are in a position to see where the results come from, their opinions, formed from experience, are most valuable. They all speak most emphatically of the advantages of the evening paper over the morning paper for advertising. Of these 302 advertisers who prefer the evening paper a large number of them use the evening paper exclusively and find the returns most profitable.

THE following statements made by the different large firms of America show why they prefer the evening paper over the morning paper:

ST. LOUIS, MO.—The evening paper is best, as it is the one that gets into the homes and stays there. Men carry the morning paper downtown on their way to work in most cases.—Wm. Barr Dry Goods Co.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—The evening paper undoubtedly is the best advertising medium, because it most surely gets into the very hands toward which all department store advertising is intended—the women of the house—and because then there is plenty of time to read, plan and digest.—Loveman, Joseph & Loeb.

CHICAGO, ILL.—We spend $325,000 a year and 75 per cent of it is in the evening papers and 25 per cent in Sunday papers. Even with our great morning papers we cannot make them pay, though the experimenting has cost us $100,000.—Siegel, Cooper & Co.

EVANSVILLE, IND.—We prefer the evening paper for advertising because the housekeeper, business man and working man have more time to go through the paper in detail after the day's work is over and have time to plan their next day's shopping. Our experience is that we get quicker and more direct results from the evening paper.—Fowler, Dick & Walker.

BOSTON, MASS.—We consider the evening paper the best medium, because it is taken home and the women get to see it.—Henry Siegel Company.

BRIDGEPORT, CONN.—We consider the evening newspaper better, because we cater to the working people, and they are employed from 7 a. m. to 6 p. m. and their only leisure time is in the evening, and they invariably take only evening papers, and have more time to read advertisements.—Cline Bros.

ALBANY, N. Y.—We consider the evening newspaper a better medium for advertising, because women have more time and better opportunity to read the evening papers.—Waldman Bros.

AKRON, OHIO.—We consider an evening paper a superior medium. The evening paper goes direct to the homes and is more thoroughly read. It is read by men after business duties are through for the day and they are more liable to remember the advertising. The morning paper is used by office men.—C. H. Leager & Co.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—We consider the evening paper the best advertising medium, as the average woman does not take time to read a paper until her work is done.—Ed Schuster & Co.

DETROIT, MICH.—We prefer the evening paper.—Partridge & Blackwell.

CINCINNATI, OHIO.—Best results from evening newspapers. The only time I use a morning paper is Sunday for Monday's business. Balance of the week the evening papers do the work to my entire satisfaction.—The Fair.

LOUISVILLE, KY.—We use afternoon papers exclusively during the week. Morning papers on Sunday only.—John C. Lewis Company.

ST. LOUIS, MO.—For advertisements containing items of special prominence likely to produce a rush, the evening newspaper serves as a better advertising medium, first, because people as a rule, have more time to read an evening paper thoroughly and note the contents thereof; second, it gives an opportunity to shoppers to select what items they contemplate purchasing and allows them time to prepare a program for the next day's shopping.—Burgin Dry Goods Company.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We prefer the evening paper week days and the morning paper Sundays only, because the evening paper is brought to the home by the member of the family who goes to business and buys and reads the paper on his way home. The Sunday paper is delivered at the home and read in the home.—Price & Rosenbaum.

BROOKLYN, N. Y.—We consider the evening paper the better medium for advertising, mainly because the evening paper goes into the home and stays there when there is time for the whole family to read and consider.—Frederick Losser & Co.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—We have always given the evening paper the preference. We spend $40,000 a year for advertising and this all goes into newspapers. We use no other medium of any kind, as we consider ANYTHING OUTSIDE OF THE NEWSPAPER as money wasted.—W. H. Elsinger & Co.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—We consider the evening paper better as a general thing, for it is usually the home paper.—Caldendar, McAuslin — Troup Co.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—The evening paper is, in our opinion, most profitable for advertising.—The Wm. H. Block Company.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—We do most of our advertising in the evening paper.—Wm. Henerer Co.

BOSTON, MASS.—We prefer the evening paper by all means, because it goes into the homes directly, while the morning paper has a tendency to work back into the business section and does not reach the homes in such relative number as the evening paper.—Houghton & Dutton.

ST. PAUL, MINN.—Where I've been, almost without exception, the evening paper is the best medium.—W. H. Milligan, Advertising Manager Field, Schlick & Co.

CLEVELAND, OHIO.—The evening paper by all means.—The Bailey Company.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.—It is our opinion that the evening paper is better, as the shopper is prepared to sally forth the next morning.—Penny & Gentles.

GOVERNOR DIX DISCUSSES STATE AND TAXATION

New York Governor, Before Conference on Taxation at Richmond, Declared That States Must Treat Home and Foreign Capital Alike.

Special to Telegram.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 5.—"The States must come together, and the line of common action must be the cessation of attempts to tax outside capital more heavily than home capital," declared Governor John A. Dix of New York, before the conference on the State and local Taxation, in session here today. Governor Dix's address on "State Comity and Taxation," which had been looked forward to by the delegates because of the recently enacted new tax code in New York, emphasized the need of reciprocal action between the States for a multitude of reasons, both generous and selfish, from the individual State's standpoint.

"Modern industrial conditions tend to break down State lines," said Governor Dix. "The map, to be useful, must take in the whole nation. Business men are no longer content with local trade. All hindrances to business are vexations and every effort is being made to overcome them. Reduction in cost of product is the aim and the cutting off of a fraction of a per cent is looked upon as a victory. Taxes are an artificial hindrance to business and the imposition of taxes is therefore to be scrutinized with the utmost care by the State levying the tax."

The Governor declared he was dealing with the subject from the standpoint of the taxpayer. "I have no sympathy with the theory of taxation which finds expression in retaliatory legislation," he resumed. "Because some sister State imposes unjust taxation upon our citizens doing business there, is no reason, to my mind, why New York should impose unjust taxes on the citizens of that State doing business in New York. Rather should New York set the example of dealing justly and by argument and persuasion seek the repeal of the unjust law. Every tax law should be carefully considered both as to its effects within and without the State.

"It is comparatively easy to consider the effect within the State and unfortunately that is the only side of the question which usually is considered at all. If the tax affects business outside of the State adversely, our legislators, if we may judge by their actions and their words, seem pleased rather than saddened. This, I suppose, is on the narrow view that another man's loss is our gain, particularly when that man is our business rival. But thoughtful business men know better. They know that anything that would through the subtle and sensitive pulses of business and credit, affect business everywhere.

"Taxation is an element in business cost. If taxes are increased unduly, unjustly and unequally anywhere, all business, not only the business most intimately connected with the thing taxed but all business, will be affected to some degree.

"Real estate, in the nature of things, must bear the chief burden of local government. But real estate does not bear all the taxes, either State or local. In addition to real estate taxes, there are two great groups of taxes; that is, taxes on business and taxes on investments. Business, however, is not so fixed. Business can move, and business is always watching for a chance to improve conditions and reduce cost. Natural advantages we cannot alter and natural advantages will always attract business. But taxation, unless it be even, just and equal, is a hindrance which business will do its best to escape. And since business will no longer confine itself to one locality but extends over many States, there surely is a call for State comity in taxation. The call for Federal interference in business is really a cry for relief from clashing State attempts at unfairness and unjust taxation of business. That is why the effect of each tax measure outside of the State should be as carefully considered as its effect within the State.

"What has just been said concerning taxation of business applies with even greater force to taxation of invested capital. Though business is largely free to establish itself where the conditions are most favorable, capital for investment purposes is still freer. A slight increase of taxation on investments will stop further investment and frequently drive out investments already made. The States must come together on this subject, and the line of common action must be the cessation of attempts to tax outside capital more heavily than home capital. These attempts always offered for these attempts to place burdens on capital owned by citizens without bearing to the local burdens borne by our citizens. It amounts to saying that we want our own State market for our own citizens, excluding the citizens, excluding the citizens of our sister States, and at the same time that we want the market of the other States for our citizens. It is time to recognize that we cannot demand favors at the same time that we refuse corresponding favors. Legislation to be sound must be broad and general; it must concern itself with the common good and not seek individual advantage. Every State desires to keep capital at home and draw capital to it because thereby it increases its manufactures; it draws population; it sees its land values growing and the comforts of civilization brought nearer to its people, and above all, it thereby provides certain and steady employment for its working population.

"Capital should be free to shift from one locality to another, whereby it can be employed to the best economic advantage. Such shifting benefits the State where the capital is invested in enterprises, which develop its resources, and also benefits those whose capital is so invested, thereby encouraging thrift and industry.

"New York has taken some important steps this year in the matter of State comity in taxation. In the report of your Committee on Inheritance Taxes last year, New York was referred to as a conspicuous offender in the matter of double taxation. That, happily, is no longer true. We have made a radical change in our inheritance tax law, and will no longer tax the intangible property of residents of other States which may happen to be within our borders or over which we may have technical jurisdiction. Under our new law, enacted in July estates of our citizens will be taxable on real estate and chattels within the State, and upon the value of intangible property, such as shares of stock, money and securities, wherever located. The estates of non-residents will be taxable only on real estate and chattels actually within our borders. In this respect our law follows the "model law" prepared by your committee and endorsed by our conference at Milwaukee last year. The rates in our law, however, are lower than those proposed by your committee and much less than those in the law enacted in 1910, which was found to be driving residents and capital from the State.

Under our present law, shares in New York corporations owned by non-residents are exempt from our inheritance tax, and this obstacle to free investment in our business enterprises has been removed. Securities and money of non-residents deposited in our State are also exempt."

Governor Dix referred to his message to the New York legislature which passed the new tax code, quoting from it: "New York was the pioneer in laws for the taxation of inheritances, and other States have largely based their laws upon ours. New York should lead again and do away with this injustice of double taxation, which has now grown to such great proportions, and we may confidently expect that other States who now offend in this respect will again follow our example, but this time in the right direction."

"I am glad," he continued, "that our legislature has corrected the injustice of double taxation, even though this will involve the loss of some revenue which having done her share, looks with confidence to her sister States who may still be offending to do theirs, and I trust the delegates here assembled will do their part to bring about complete State comity on this important subject.

"Another phase of State comity is involved, I believe, in the ratification by our legislature, of the income tax amendment to the Federal constitution. One of the chief arguments advanced against such ratification in our State, was that New York having a large proportion of the wealth of the country, would pay a large share of any Federal income tax that might be levied. That argument is essentially selfish and I am glad that it did not prevail. If our State has the wealth and the ability to pay, surely it should pay its proper share of a tax which is intended to fall on wealth and ability.

"Coupled with our new inheritance tax law is a new law for the taxation of securities held by our citizens. We are not prepared to exempt this class of wealth, but we know how elusive it is, so we have placed a small registration tax of one-half per cent upon it, and in consequence we expect to see a large revenue in our State treasury from sources which, for good or bad reasons, have heretofore generally escaped taxation.

"This law extends the principle of our mortgage recording tax to all investment securities, including bonds issued by corporations of other States. So that now we make no discrimination in our tax law but leave our citizens as free to invest their money openly in outside securities as in New York mortgages or bonds of New York corporations. We command this tax, in the interest of State comity to the other States, which are still struggling with the old question of how to get some taxes out of personal property.

The States are now awake to the need of common action. We have our State Commissioners on Uniformity of Laws. We have each year gatherings of Insurance Commissioners of the States, meetings of Attorney Generals of the States, conference of State Auditors, and so on through the whole list of administrative officials. In the matters of taxation, that is the demand of the State for contributions from its citizens for the expense of government; there is, if anything, a still greater need of conference and comity.

cently Ruined Crops and Made Half Million Homeless.

Peking, Sept. 5.—Summer floods along the Yangtze-Kiang and its tributaries and along other great rivers are repeating in various provinces the conditions in Anhwei and Kiangsu, which have not yet been relieved. In the province of Anhwei early in August hundreds of thousands of acres of rice were destroyed by the floods and 500,000 persons were rendered homeless.

Many thousands of square miles are now submerged and the bodies of hundreds of persons lie unburied. The Chinese government, as well as special committees, is subscribing relief funds, which is a new departure for the administration and shows the advancement toward modern ways; but the project for attacking the root of the evil, control of the water ways and the reclaiming of lands, up to the present has been only suggested and mildly discussed. Hence a repetition of these horrors may be expected each year according to C. D. Jameson, the American engineer sent by the Red Cross to China to study the situation.

NATIVE COUNTRY TOO RAW.

St. Paul Authress Decides England's Ways Suit Her Best.
St. Paul, Sept. 5.—Declaring America is too crude and because the people here do not understand her, Mrs. Anne Warner French has left this, her native city, to make her permanent residence in England.

The author of "the Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" and the Susan Clegg stories, the pride for many years of St. Paul and Minnesota people, now claims that she is "entirely transplanted."
"This country is really very young and very crude," she explains, "and it is difficult for the people, especially the women, to feel what my work means to me and to respect it. Women of America, though they are petted and pampered as nowhere else, are not expected to enter the real world of affairs. The men do not take them into it with them and so they cannot grasp what my serious work may mean to me."

"English girls are trained as their brothers so that when they are mature they take an earnest, active and intelligent part in social, political and economic affairs. With thoughtful and sympathetic consideration for my work, they never think of disturbing me, coming to visit me only when invited, and are not hurt if I am not often required to be my guests, but they are my sincere friends, and when I go to London for a few days my time is planned out for me and I am delightfully entertained by people who can talk most interestingly on a variety of subjects—never personalities."

cluded to be a candidate until success crowned his efforts.

Friends of La Follette who are closest to him and who pin their faith to him say, "Who knows but if defeated for the nomination for President in 1912 but that he will again seek it and successfully in 1916. They point to the fact that La Follette has no reasons aside from his personal ambitions for seeking the nomination. He is going into the campaign for another motive, the strengthening and binding together of the insurgents. He is confident that the progressive party will receive unexpected support, and that this will encourage them all over the country and tend to keep them organized both in Congress and in the country at large."

The thing that Senator La Follette has been most insistent upon is that President Taft shall not be allowed to walk away with the nomination without a protest. The fight at the next Republican convention will be a fight against Taft. It will not be a fight so much for principles. The insurgent views are in accord with the Republican platform except perhaps on the tariff question. The man above all other whom La Follette would gladly have supported for President had he lived was Senator Delivered. Recently in a conversation with close friends, La Follette, in speaking of the former Senator said: "Had Delivered lived, nothing could have kept him from being President."

Among the reasons that are causing La Follette to make a fight for the nomination is the feeling that, while chances are against his own nomination, the Republican convention may find itself in a position where it will be necessary to effect a compromise between himself and Taft. In such a situation, a progressive might stand a chance, and Senator La Follette would deem even that chance a victory. The matter of forcing insurgent ideas into the Republican platform and shaping the platform so as to meet the views of the insurgents as nearly as possible are being considered. What all this will come to is a matter of guess work but it is certain a bitter fight is being waged and will be kept up by the insurgents upon the administration.

Even if a man fights but one duel he has a second.

HOW TO CURE ECZEMA, ITCH AND ALL SKIN DISEASES

Don't suffer a moment longer with eczema, or any form of skin or blood troubles. Don't scratch or rub the skin. STOCKINGS FOR LITTLE ONES

New Design Will Prove Boon for Worried Mothers of Healthy, Rumping Youngsters.

When the summer comes and the active boys and girls, filled with the zest of life, are rolling hoops, jumping rope and playing ball, garters do get broken and mothers are in despair not only because of this, but because of the big holes that the catches sometimes tear in little stockings.

Now, however, a novel kind of hosiery has been put on the market for the youngster, obviating all difficulties of this kind.

These are nothing more or less than stockings which reach all the way to the little waists, having a straight piece back and front, which is of elastic material, with buttonholes which button right onto the little underwaists.

Such hosiery is not only practical, but prevents all possibility of the garter showing beneath small skirts or bloomers, and also serves to keep the underwaist in place.

The stockings come in brown and black and white.

Coats for Summer.

White is to be fashionable this summer, and nothing is prettier than a white cloak. White satin evening cloaks faced with black are smart, but not practical as compared with the same style of coat in light-weight cloth. These coats should be cut on some loose model, and can be trimmed or plain. The sailor collar and revers of velvet covered with heavy lace are effective, but they are equally effective of plain velvet, and velvet for the moment seems more in favor than satin as trimming. Heavy embroidery and braiding around the bottom of the coats, with the same trimming repeated on the wide turned-back cuffs and sailor collar, make the garment most elaborate. Sometimes the revers are faced with satin, not velvet, and this obviates the too heavy effect of so much braiding and embroidery, which always looks stiff.—Harper's Bazar.

Making Pippings.

As pippings are so fashionable and form a part of the finish of almost every gown, it is well to know how they should be made. For a quarter of an inch piping cut the material into bias strips an inch and a quarter wide, and for wider pippings increase the width accordingly. Fold these strips through the center lengthwise and baste close to the fold.

Under the part to be piped lay the folded strip, allowing a quarter of an inch to show, and three-quarters of an inch for the seam. After the piping is basted in place, stitch it as close to the edge as possible.

When a narrower piping is wanted the goods is cut accordingly; but be sure to see that there is a good three-eighths of an inch allowed for the seam.

Easily Restored.

Camel's hair and red sable brushes that have gotten out of shape or curved can be restored to their proper form by dipping first into hot and then into cold water.

HAND-PAINTED CARDS

PRETTY REMEMBRANCES FOR THE NATAL DAY.

Nothing More Welcome Can Be Offered Friend Than Something That Is One's Own Work—Two Good Designs Here.

Perhaps you number among your friends or relations some one who has a birthday this month. If so, let me suggest that you send a handmade birthday card to the one who is growing old.

The simple drawings before you should be traced on cards or paper.

With delicate colors they should be painted, and an appreciative verse written as your good wish.

Pale yellow and green can be used on the border of tulips. The little verse should be written at the top.

The side arrangement of ribbon and roses is another style. Blues and pinks and yellows can be used. Indeed, the real colors need not be adhered to strictly. Any delicate "blossomy" effect will do.

Then there is a card with the trees in bloom. Pale green, covered with pink blossoms, gives a lovely effect.

This is a delightful little orchard to send to your friends.

The wreath and ribbon can be done in a favorite color. Yellow and pale green, pink flowers, white and green with colored ribbon are suggestions for coloring.

Here are some little verses to inscribe:

The daisies peep from every field,
The violets sweet odor yield;
The purple blossom paints the thorn,
The stream reflects the blush of morn.

The newborn May,
As cradled yet in April's lap she lay,
Born in yon bias of green and gold,
Sweet May! Thy radiant form unfold,
And wave thy shadow

Raising The Maine

If it is true that the raising of the Maine shows that we went to war with Spain unnecessarily, it is a sad fact, but quick "Snap" judgments as a rule always result disastrously. If "Bargain Hunting" Is Extravagance, Isn't It Strange That Bargain Hunt- ers Can Always Afford It!

And haven't you noticed that, even if the family income is not at all great, the bargain hunting woman always seems to have the money with which to indulge her "extravagance?"

This fact should teach her critics something—perhaps teach them that the fixed habit of intelligent buying, based upon a persistent study of the ads, is a form of "extravagance" that should prevail in every home in the land!

GOTCH DEFEATS HACKENSCHMIDT IN WRESTLING BOUT

Chicago, Sept. 5.—The geographical center of the wrestling world was more than ever fortified at Humboldt, Iowa, the home of Frank Gotch, today. Moreover, Referee Ed Smith, who proclaimed the world's champion victor over George Hackenschmidt, declared that for the next ten years there would be no shift of the wrestling capital, unless Gotch should choose to change his place of residence.

The Russian's showing was pitiful. The crowd decreed that he had "quit," but the defeated challenger, through copious tears, averred that he entered the arena with a wrenched knee on which Gotch worked and speedily reduced him to a state of comparative helplessness.

The foreigner's nerves were on edge. He spent a sleepless night and was pale when he crawled through the ropes. Dr. J. J. Davis, who examined both wrestlers before they went to the mat, declared that though there might be something wrong with Hackenschmidt's knee it was not evident.

While it took Gotch 14 minutes and 18 seconds to gain the first fall, the second fall required only five minutes and thirty-two seconds, which, Hackenschmidt's friends assert, proved that his knee was in bad condition.

Referee Smith is authority for the statement that when Gotch secured the fatal toe lock which won him the match, Hackenschmidt cried out: "Don't hurt my leg," and a second later, "Don't break my leg," and fell with his shoulders to the mat, frothing at the mouth.

The first fall resulted from a reverse body hold after the men had struggled 14:18 1-2.

That terrible toe hold for which Gotch is famous was responsible for the second fall. He clamped it on the left foot of Hackenschmidt after the second fall had gone 5:32 1-5. Scarcely had he obtained the grip when Hackenschmidt acknowledged defeat.

Hackenschmidt's own statement, that it was the easiest world's championship ever won, tells the story of the bout almost as well as it could be told. Gotch never was in serious difficulty at any time during the match. Neither was he forced to extend himself to win. The lowan secured in all perhaps half a dozen dangerous holds on his antagonist.

Hackenschmidt had Gotch worried but once. During the first fall Hackenschmidt obtained a body hold on Gotch that brought him to the mat. But the champion was on the canvas for only a few seconds. Then he was only down as far as his knees. Almost before the "Lion" realized that his opponent was in a dangerous predicament Gotch had wriggled out of the hole and was bounding across the ring to safety.

For his defeat Hackenschmidt offers but one excuse, that his left knee, which was injured in training two weeks ago, weakened under the pressure of the iron hands of Gotch and it was useless to continue at the risk of being permanently injured. Hackenschmidt went into the ring with the member in a bandage. But regardless of whether there be any merit to "Hack's" claim that his knee was in bad shape, it cannot be denied that the challenger was in no state mentally to enter into a grueling contest.

THE PRICE OF A SMOKE.

Snout Beetles, Stilt Bugs, Sucklies and Other Enemies of Tobacco.

The tobacco grower finds that eternal vigilance is the price of a crop, owing to the number of insects that seem bent on eating the tobacco faster than it can grow. The Department of Agriculture has issued a bulletin dealing with these insect enemies from which is compiled the following impressive list:

The tobacco flea beetle is a lively creature with a hearty appetite. In 1907 it caused a $2,000,000 loss in Kentucky and Tennessee alone. The next year the split worm took a toll of $150 an acre in Florida. That State also harbors the tobacco thrips, which are partial to the wrapper leaves, the most valuable part of the plant.

Then there are the tobacco budworms and the tobacco hornworms and the cigarette beetles, "which infest cured and manufactured tobacco and levy a yearly toll of many thousands of dollars on the industry. The total annual loss caused by these pests probably never falls below about $5,000,000 and it may be as high as $10,000,000."

This beetle breeds in practically all cured tobacco except that richest in nicotine. Small lots of infested tobacco, such as cigars, cigarettes and boxes of pipe tobacco may be treated by opening the boxes so that the gas will enter, placing them in an airtight box and fumigating with carbon bisulphide.

The most serious injury to transplanted tobacco is by wireworms. In South Carolina last year they severely hurt the crop by boring into the stem. The mole cricket is also injurious, cutting off the young plants. Another insect attacking the seed bed seriously is the grouse locust, principally at Stem, N. C., and in Tennessee.

Cutworms are also very injurious to tobacco, cutting off the top of the plant at or near the surface of the ground. Then there are the hemiptera, of which the most injurious species is the tobacco suckly. The plant bug wilts tobacco, as well as the leaf bug, the stilt bug, leaf hoppers and shartshooters and a mealy bug. The greenhouse white fly injures tobacco in greenhouses.

Other injurious pests are the climbing cotton cutworm, flea beetle and potato beetle. Snout beetles breed in tobacco stems, but not with severe injury. Wireworms injure the root and stems of tobacco.

Other insects injurious to cured and manufactured tobacco are the rice weevil and the drug store beetle, for which use the same remedies as for cigarette beetles. There are also insects attacking tobacco seed. The tobacco seed beetle is the most prominent, and there are the black carpet beetle, found in a bottle of imported Cuban seed; the book louse and the cecidomyid. Grasshoppers, tree crickets and snowy tree crickets are also among injurious pests.—United States Tobacco Journal.

SEEKS TO REPAIR TAFT DAMAGE IN INDIANA.

Republican State Chairman Hopes to Placate Irate Insurgents.

Indianapolis, Sept. 5.—Publicly bewailing President Taft's speech at Hamilton, Mass., last Saturday, in which insurgent Republicans were scored for their affiliation with the Democrats to revise some of the tariff schedules during the recent extra session of Congress, Chairman Edwin M. Lee of the Republican State Committee, is making a tour of Indiana "in hope of repairing the damage."

Chairman Lee declares that the President's attitude toward the insurgents is "unfortunate to say the least," and that the outlook for Republican victory in Indiana is dismal. He has visited most of the counties and has talked recently with hundreds of party workers.

Chairman Lee was elected to his present position by Albert J. Beveridge, former Senator. He is the head of the Beveridge and insurgent elements and is a candidate to succeed himself as chairman.

COAL MAKES A NEW RECORD.

Production Exceeds Half Billion Tons For First Time.

Washington, Sept. 5.—For the first time in the history of the United States the coal mines of the country last year were credited with an output exceeding half a billion short tons, the combined production of anthracite, bituminous coal and lignite having amounted to 501,576,895 short tons, with a spot value of $829,329,745. This great output was attained in spite of the fact that most of the mines in Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma were closed for nearly six months by one of the most bitterly contested strikes in the history of the industry. The heaviest tonnage mined in any year previous to 1910 was in 1907, when a total of 480,363,424 short tons was produced.

Compared with 1909, the output in 1910 showed an increase of 40,762,279 short tons, or 8.85 per cent. Prices generally were a little higher than in 1909, the average for Pennsylvania anthracite being $2.13 per long ton, against $2.06 in 1909, and the average for bituminous coal was $1.12 per short ton in 1910, against $1.07 in 1909.

The bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania showed an increase of 12,554,735 short tons; West Virginia was second, with an increase of 9,821,799 short tons; Ohio third, 6,270,027 tons; Kentucky fourth, 3,925,935 tons; Indiana fifth, 3,555,556 tons; and Alabama sixth, 2,388,529 tons.

Cases Before Judge Eure.

In the Municipal Court this morning the following cases came before the court and the following judgments were handed down by Judge Eure:

Florence Hanks was arraigned before the court for retailing, and was given five months in the work house. She took an appeal from the decision of court.

In the case of the state against Tom Ball for two drunken spees, he was fined $10 and the costs for the first offense, and the costs for the second.

Wythe Long was found not guilty of the charge of driving an auto without lights.

The case against Harry Wiley, for retailing, was continued until tomorrow morning.

Here From Canal Zone.

E. L. Fogleman, formerly of this city, who has been in the Panama Canal Zone for a couple of years helping to construct the big ditch, is in the city for a visit to his uncle, H. L. Hicks. Mr. Fogleman says he enjoys good health on the Isthmus and likes the life down there. He believes the canal will be completed in two years more and thinks ships will be passing through it by 1915.

Convicts Ditching.

The street force of convicts were set to work this morning digging a sewer ditch up Gaston street in order that the water in the hole dug for the foundation of the Banner building on North Elm street might be drained. For more than a week this hole has contained several inches of water and the rain yesterday afternoon replenished the stock quite considerably. The water in the excavation is several inches deep and is a regular breeding place for mosquitoes.
